BENEFITS OF CBD

WHAT IS CBD?

Cannabidiol (CBD) is one of the main phytocannabinoids found in cannabis plants. Cannabinoids help to regulate a range of functions and processes within the human body. CBD does not produce the cognitive effects that THC may produce.

HOW DOES CBD WORK?

CBD interacts with a wide variety of receptors within our body to create different effects. CBD also boosts your body's own endocannabinoids, allowing them to work more effectively.

HOW IS CBD FROM A DISPENSARY DIFFERENT FROM CBD PURCHASED ELSEWHERE?

The contents of hemp-derived CBD products purchased outside of dispensaries are not federally regulated at this time, meaning they could have harsh chemicals or additives in them. Cannabis-derived CBD from our dispensary undergoes extensive third-party testing to prove its potency and safety. Hemp is a fiber-type variety of cannabis sativa, which produces higher concentrations of CBD than THC. Medical cannabis is another variety of sativa which typically produces higher concentrations of THC than CBD.
